ABSTRACT

As an information provider to academic institutions worldwide, ProQuest Information and Learning (formerly known as UMI) has the aim of facilitating and improving access to information via microfilm, CD-ROM and the World Wide Web.

Most libraries of today, whilst still holding microfilm and CD-ROM as valuable formats, are rapidly turning to the virtual answer for their research needs. This could be in the form of searching the web, e-journals or aggregated databases such as ProQuest.

This presentation is designed to help clarify how ProQuest Information and Learning can help a library, or libraries in a consortium, reach their information peak - virtually - in areas ranging from Medicine, Social Sciences and Business to Technology, Literature and Education.
