

A Query Language for Digital Libraries

Jitao Yang

Laboratoire de Recherche en Informatique, Université Paris-Sud, 91405 Orsay Cedex, France

jitao.yang@lri.fr

We introduce a data model for digital libraries and an associated query language for the discovery of objects of interest based on content or description. We also outline possible mappings of the query language to existing standards, namely SPARQL. This paper is a short description of my doctoral work, under way, at the University of Paris South.