Dear Sirs,

I wish at first to express my deepest regret on the demises of His late Majesty King deerge the fifth,

I received your kind letter of the 11th December 1935, and thak you very much for the information given therein in regard to the arrangements to the be made in connection with the expense necessary for my participation brial at the Olympic Games.

Soon after the receipt of your above latter, I approached the Chief Commandant of Police, Mr. W. King, who promised to me that he will make collections for me from the members of the English Community in Cyprus, so that I may be ixximad enabled to proceed to London early in March in order to be trained for the trials and try and be elected among the British Team.

s, however, the British Community in Cyprus are of opinion that Great Britain may probably not take part at the Olympic Games, on account of the meath of HIS late wajesty King George, I should be much obliged and th thankfull if you would kindly let me know by cable whether great Etitain will take part at the Olympic Games or not, and I shall expect to get an information regarding the expense to be incurred by you in sending the obove cable in order to remit same. The said cable is absolutely necessary to he, as, in the event that Great Britain will not participate at the Clymbic Games, no measures will be necessary to be taken from now for the collection for me of the necessary amount enabling to proceed London for the trials.

Expecting to hear from you in due course and apologising for the trouble I am giving you in my case, I remain, Very sincerely yours,

Cable Address.

THE GREEKS HAD A WORD FOR 'EM AND IT WAS "DOGS."

The camera played Stylianos Kyriakides, 28-year-old Greek Marathon champion, something of a dirty trick in overplaying his feet, but Stylianos is proud of them and says they're going to carry him to victory in the B. A. A. Marathon come Patriot's Day. They've already made him one of Europe's foremost road racers. He was 11th in Berlin Olympics, seven places ahead of our Johnny Kelley, and hasn't come 5000 miles just to run for exercise. That Greek alphabet on his chest spells out "Hellas" which means Greece.

Running shoes used until the 70's were made of hard leather soles and tops

WWII years and occupation 1940-1944

- During the WWII years there was no sporting activities anywhere in Europe. With little or no food many people died in Greece.
- Kyriakides and his family survived because as an electricity bill collector we could find some little food in the farms which he delivered the bills.
- Kyriakides helped the Greek resistance, by delivering messages, listening on short wave radio the BBC news which he passed on and by hiding Allied pilots in his cellar.

Kyriakides joins the army in 1938 as volunteer

Civil war years 1945-1949

- WWII was followed by the Greek civil war between communists and royalists, which was worse than the occupation.
- From 1940 to 1950 the economy of the country was in ruins
- Athletic activities started only for the group of athletes that went to the London 1948 Olympics with the money and athletic material and equipment that Kyriakides collected during his visit to Boston in 1947

Stylianos Kyriakides Greece, b. 1910 Best time: 2:29:27 (1946)

He embodied the revival of a war-ravaged world, especially starving Greece, with his emotional win at Boston in 1946. Like Pheidippides, he carried a message: "Win or die." He had placed 11th at the 1936 Berlin Olympics, an achievement that twice saved his life under Nazi occupation.
