October, 1962.

The present report arises from six months' residence in Cyprus, 1961, as United Nations Technical Assistance expert on Housing Policy with the Cypriot Government. As the Housing problem indivisibly tied to Physical Planning, it has been necessary to deal with the building up of the Physical Planning activities of the Republic.

The author gratefully acknowledges the assistance and courtesy extended to him by all the Ministries and public authorities in Cyprus. This includes the excellent organization of the Government as well as the Communal Chambers, the Municipalities and Corporations. It is also due to

Report on
Housing and Physical Planning in Cyprus

Appointed under the United Nations Programme of Technical Assistance.

His special gratitude to the Minister of the Interior for providing a special staff of four Cypriots: two architects, one economist and a shorthand-typist, working within the framework of the Planning and Housing Dept.

Because of the very short time for making the report an additional help from foreign experts in certain fields was needed. From the Swedish Government a specialized Cartographer was provided, the Swedish Savings Banks Association sent down an expert on Savings Banks and NABAB International, Stockholm, two experts on sanitation and public utilities. For this aid the author is very grateful.

The author has had the possibility to exchange thoughts and experiences with Mr. Caubee Bonnard, Inspecteur General, Ministère de la Con-
