245 $a Eirene White Papers
245 $c Eirene White
245 $f 1959-1999
351 $a Arranged at NLW into seven sections: personal papers, 1920-1999; political papers, 1907-1944; papers deriving from Lady White's non-political interests and activities, 1859-1994; papers concerning Welsh politics and affairs, 1950-1996; material reflecting Lady White's interests in educational life, 1960-1980; family papers, 1892-1992; and acquired printed material, 1919-1997. Much of the archive arrived at the Library in labelled files; these have been retained. Others were in great disorder and have been sorted and arranged in files at NLW.

505 $a Readers consulting modern papers in the National Library of Wales are required to sign the 'Modern papers - data protection' form.

509 $a Contents comprises letters, 1928-1999, to Lady White; diaries, 1936-1944; papers, 1947-1954, reflecting her career as a Labour politician; papers, 1859-1994, concerning her outside interests and activities, records, 1950-1996, deriving from Lady White's involvement in Welsh political and public life, and material, 1960-1990, concerning her activities in educational matters. There are also family papers, 1892-1992; including some relating to Lady White's father Dr Thomas Jones CH (1870-1955) and her husband John Cameron White (1911-1955). There is also a substantial group of press cuttings and other printed material, 1919-1997.

540 $a Copyright in papers written by Lady White owned by National Library of Wales, otherwise, usual copyright laws apply
541 $a per
542 $a A2000/24, 0200003661
544 $a A substantial group of photographs and snapshots are in NLW, Special Collections, and four cassettes of interviews with Lady White during June and July 1995 are in NLW, The National Screen and Sound Image of Wales, CM 10610-10613. See also series level description F2.
545 $a Eirene White was a journalist and civil servant who served as the Labour MP for East Flintshire, 1950-1970, and subsequently became the Baroness White of Rhyddney.

560 $a She was born at Beulah on 7 November 1899, the daughter of Dr Thomas Jones CH (1870-1955) who was to serve as the distinguished Deputy Secretary to the Cabinet, 1918-1935, rendering loyal service to four successive prime ministers: Lloyd George, Bonar Law, Stanley Baldwin and Ramsay MacDonald.

560 $a She was educated at St Paul's Girls' School and then read Politics, Philosophy and Economics at Somerville College, Oxford. She travelled widely in Europe and the United States, taking an absorbing interest in housing and the problems of the homeless, and in 1939 she became Welsh Regional Secretary of the Women's Voluntary Service. Subsequently, she was recruited by the Ministry of Labour to assist with the training of workers for the war effort. In 1945 she stood for parliament unsuccessfully for Flintshire in the Labour interest. Thereafter she turned to journalism, representing the Manchester Evening News and the BBC at the House of Commons. Eirene Jones was elected to the Labour Party's National Executive in 1947. In 1948 she married John Cameron White, a fellow Lobby correspondent at the Commons. He predeceased her in 1968. There were no children of the marriage. Finally, in 1950, she entered the House of Commons as Labour MP for East Flintshire, holding on to this highly marginal constituency for twenty years.

560 $a In her parliamentary career, Eirene White became interested in the law of marriage and divorce. Had Hugh Gaitskell survived, she would probably have been given Cabinet office. When the Labour Party came into government in 1964, she was appointed parliamentary private secretary at the Colonial Office, and in 1966 she became Minister of State for Foreign Affairs. Only a year later, Harold Wilson moved her to the rather more mundane Welsh Office where she remained, serving mainly under George Thomas, until she decided to retire from the Commons in 1970. She was also Chairman of the Labour Party, 1968-1969. In 1970 she entered the House of Lords as Baroness White of Rhyddney.

560 $a Baroness White's energy did not diminish in the Lords. She held a rich array of public offices, many of them in Wales. These included chairman of Cogel...

Description
René Magritte
L'homme du large
Huile sur toile
139 x 106
(1927)
Signature dans le bas à droite : magritte

Artiste(s)
René Magritte [Lessines 1898 - Bruxelles 1967]

Classification
[peinture (Dept. Art Moderne)]

Type
[tableau]

Style
Cette toile, exposée pour la première fois à la galerie Le Centaure à Bruxelles en avril-mai 1927, fut peinte par Magritte au début de l'année. C'est une œuvre parmi les plus importantes réalisées durant ce que l'on appelle souvent la "période noire". Magritte, qui vient d'abandonner ses recherches futuristes et abstraites qui ne lui donnaient pas satisfaction, se lance à corps perdu dans l'exploration d'un univers mystérieux qui sera dorénavant le sien. Magritte n'a jamais eu pour préoccupation première de servir la peinture et les problèmes esthétiques ne l'intéressent guère, ce ne sont que des accessoires mis au service de l'idée (d'après Gisèle Ollinger)

[Surréalisme]

Iconographie
scène (homme ; silhouette ; plage ; mer ; cheminée ; chaise ; plancher ; fenêtre) / Marcel Lecomte, Fantômas, Louis Feuillard
Highly flexible data design
  • But with default formats (eg UniMarc, Dublin Core, Marc21)
  • User controlled
  • But NOT a high maintenance overhead

Multi-institution, consortia, mix usage and all scale of site
  • But locally defined policies and permissions

Ability to create new data models and be fully supported.
